

Campbell Gray Hotels Opens Bahrain's First Five Star Boutique Hotel, The Merchant House

As we welcome in the new year, Bahrain has even more to celebrate in 2019 with the opening of its much-anticipated boutique hotel, The Merchant House. Campbell Gray Hotels made its debut in the GCC this month with the opening of the stunning all-suite property in Manama, the first boutique hotel in Bahrain to be awarded a five star rating.

Breaking new ground in the city, the luxurious, all-suite boutique hotel situated in the bustling Bab el-Bahrain Souk area is set to transform Bahrain's hotel and hospitality scene. With just 46 suites, the exclusive property is a charming new addition to the city; a perfectly formed jewel in the heart of Manama's old town.

Appealing to all five senses, The Merchant House offers much more than simply a place to stay. Here guests will be afforded an experience that stays with them long after they have checked out.

Design

Everything in the hotel is individually designed from the furniture to the fabrics to the striking graphic screens in the suites and the dramatic graffiti pillar in the lobby. There's nothing safe about the décor; every corner is an impact on the senses.

Art

As with all Campbell Gray Hotel properties, art plays a huge role throughout The Merchant House. Guests are in for a treat with a carefully curated collection that includes extraordinary and exciting pieces of established Bahraini and international artists as well as young and up and coming talent from the region.

Personalised service

A quintessential element of being "boutique" is the promise of a personalised, attentive hotel stay for visitors and at The Merchant House, guests can look forward to full-service, round-the-clock amenities to meet consumers' shifting expectations. Campbell Gray Hotels' strapline is: "Everything matters," so guests can rest assured that every minute detail will be taken into account and their every wish and whim satisfied.

Dining

It may be boutique, but that does not mean that guests can't expect great things in the F&B department. The stunning rooftop – another Campbell Gray Hotels speciality – is where you will find the main restaurant and bar, with options to eat both indoors or outdoors. The rooftop is designed to feel like a garden, bringing the inside outside to create a comfortable, casual atmosphere. Here you can take your pick from local and international dishes or ask the chef to create one of your favourites.

Location

The Merchant House's location a block and a half from the Gateway to Bahrain is another selling point, meaning you can walk out the front door and explore the recently regenerated area to fully immerse yourself into local Bahraini life.

Guests can be amongst the first to enjoy an experience that enthrals all the senses by taking advantage of the introductory offer of BD 99 for the first night and receiving the second night complimentary. Reservations are now being accepted for arrivals from January 14th 2019.
